FEDERATION of INTERNATIONAL TOUCH

Presents the

HISTORY of
JAPAN TEST MATCHES
1995 - 2018

In 1994 the then President of the British Touch Association, Mark Wilkes, in conjunction with FIT organised a quad series between Japan, Great Britain, Australia, and New Zealand.

As it eventuated New Zealand pulled out at the last moment leaving a tri series between the remaining nations. Although Japan has sent teams on tours they have only played the one test series.

Attached is the results of test matches played by Japan against FIT Members. The first official test was held at Tokyo in 1995. In 2016 Japan travelled to Auckland for a Tri-Series between Australia and New Zealand. They travelled to Queensland, Australia in May 2017 to engage again in a tri series with the highlight being a 6-5 victory for the womens team

These records trace the history of all test matches played by the Japan Touch Association
